Introduction:

Builders Merchant Building Index

This Builders Merchant Building Index (BMBI) report contains data from NiQ GfK's ground-breaking Builders Merchants Panel, which analyses data from over 88% of generalist builders' merchants' sales throughout Great Britain. NiQ GfK's Builders Merchant Point of Sale Tracking Data sets a gold standard in reliable market trends. Unlike data from sources based on relatively small samples or estimates, or sales from suppliers to the supply chain, this up-to-date data is based on actual sales from merchants to builders and other trades. It's therefore a very good proxy for housing RMI.

The monthly series tracks what is happening in the market month by month and includes an in-depth review every quarter. BMBI Index data is calculated on the 12-month base period January 2019 to December 2019.

Executive Summary

BMBI Experts

MRA Research produces the Builders Merchant Building Index, a brand of the BMF, to communicate to the wider market as the voice of the industry as well as the voice of individual Expert Brands. Meet the Experts on pages 6 and 7 of this report or read their latest comments here.

BMBI - the best proxy there is for RMI

One of the aims of BMBI is to reach across and beyond construction. It's syndicated monthly to a growing number of trade magazines in different sectors. Outside the industry, economists, banks, consultancies, investment bodies, advisors and accountants refer to it. BMBI is featured alongside the BoE and Office for National Statistics (ONS) data in the Government Department for Business & Trade's Monthly Construction Update. Download the latest update here.

More data available

This BMBI report provides valuable top-level indices but there's considerably more data available. NiQ GfK insights go much deeper and include sales value data. NiQ GfK can quantify market values and drill down into contributing categories, tracing product group performance, to focus on aspects that are critical to you. You can view previous reports here.

NiQ GfK can also produce robust like-for-like market comparability tailored to the requirements of an individual business. As more merchants join to submit their monthly sales-out data the quality of this information can only become more extensive and rigorous. Merchants or suppliers who are interested in acquiring data or getting involved should contact Emile van der Ryst at emile.vanderryst@nielseniq.com.

Coverage and data audits

NIQ

As part of its ongoing drive to ensure the most accurate and relevant understanding of market coverage GfK conducts universe studies every few years.

These studies aim to understand the number of retailers / merchants and the branches they have in a defined universe - in this case the mainland Great Britain Builders Merchants channel.

The previous iteration of the BMBI used a universe study conducted in 2019, with coverage then estimated at 82% was revised up to 92% in the October 2023 report with the introduction of CMO, Huws Gray and JT Dove.

GfK has since completed its latest universe study for the channel and now estimates coverage to sit at 88%.

For any queries around this, please reach out to Emile van der Ryst at emile.vanderryst@nielseniq.com.

Based on its latest universe study for the builders' merchant channel, NiQ GfK estimates coverage is 88%.

NiQ GfK's Definition of Builders Merchant Panel

Generalist Builders Merchants definition:

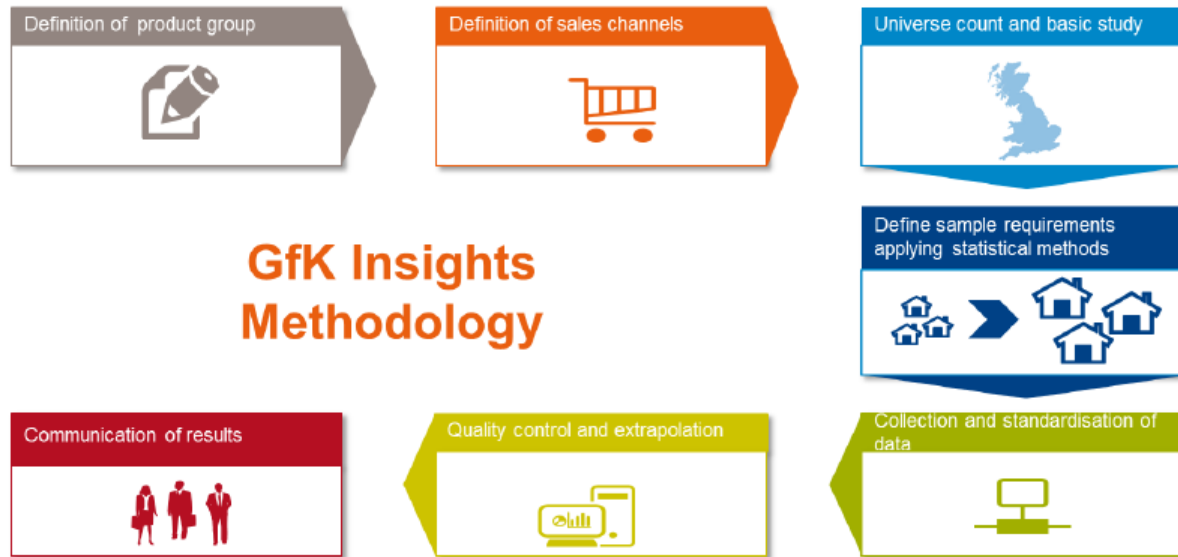

- Builder Merchants handle an extended range of building materials and components (e.g. doors, windows, interior furnishing materials, insulation materials, tiles, cement, mortar, adhesives, sealants, nails, hardware products, pipes, ironware, paint) and generate their turnover with professional end users. Only multiple merchants are considered; they are defined as having more than 3 outlets or a turnover of greater than £3m p.a.
- This excludes branches that generate all their sales from specialized areas such as Civils, Tiles and Tools. Estimated coverage of this channel sits at 88%.

Examples include:

INDEPENDENT BUILDERS MERCHANT GROUP

What's new in the report? - 1

Mike Rigby, Managing Director - MRA Research

Why are we making the changes?

BMBI, and PHMI, readers will notice a few changes in the way we present builders' merchant sales data in the reports. One of the aims is to give more prominence to like-for-like sales metrics which, adjusted for trading day differences, give a better and more consistent measure of activity than unadjusted total value sales.

Most merchants use both unadjusted sales values and like-for-like measures, adjusted for trading days, to give them an accurate steer on the market. But this change in emphasis was triggered by requests from national merchants and larger regionals to make more of like-for-like, which is their primary measure of sales trends. Smaller merchants and suppliers tend to use unadjusted metrics as their primary metric.

Following other useful feedback, we've made other improvements and will be making more small improvements to the presentation of BMBI, and PHMI, reports in the next few months. If you have any suggestions on these measures, or thoughts on how we can improve our reporting of the data, please get in touch via <https://bmbi.co.uk/contact-us/> or, for PHMI, <https://phmi.co.uk/contact/>.

What is different?

Value sales

Total (unadjusted) value sales – these are value (£) sales that have not been adjusted to remove the effect of trading days. Any % changes between periods will therefore be a combination of movements in £ sales as well as the differences in trading days (if there are any).

The BMBI and PHMI summaries and reports have always included this measure of value sales and will continue to do so.

Like-for-like value sales – these are value (£) sales that have been adjusted to remove the effect of trading day differences between periods. You can be confident, therefore, that any % changes between periods are due to movements in £ sales rather than differences in the number of trading days.

Although the BMBI and PHMI reports have always included like-for-like value sales, a recent change is that we are bringing this measure more to the forefront of our summaries and reports and we now consider it to be the lead measure.

What's new in the report? - 2

Mike Rigby, Managing Director - MRA Research

Volume sales

Total (unadjusted) volume sales – these are volume (unit) sales that have not been adjusted to remove the effect of trading days. Any % changes between periods will therefore be a combination of movements in unit sales as well as the differences in trading days (if there are any).

The BMBI and PHMI summaries have always included this measure of volume sales and will continue to do so.

Like-for-like volume sales – these are volume (unit) sales that have been adjusted to remove the effect of trading day differences between periods. You can be confident, therefore, that any % changes between periods are due to movements in unit sales rather than differences in the number of trading days.

This will be a new measure in the BMBI and PHMI summaries from the Q4 2025 reports.

Price

Price is a Unit Sales Price, calculated from the Value (£) sales and Volume (units) sales. The appropriate unit varies by category. For example, units can be containers, pallets, packs, bags, cans of paint, rolls of insulation, lengths, boards or sheets of drylining.

Total (unadjusted) price – this is the unit sales price calculated from the Total (unadjusted) value sales and Total (unadjusted) volume sales.

The BMBI and PHMI summaries have always included this measure of price and will continue to do so.

Like-for-like price will always equate to total unadjusted price.

This will be a new measure in the BMBI and PHMI summaries from the Q4 2025 reports.

BMF Forecast Report

Summer 2026 Edition

Builders Merchants Industry Forecast Report

The latest forecast report of the BMF's Builders Merchants Industry Forecast, covering Summer 2026 onwards, is available.

While Builders Merchants Building Index (BMBI) data, which is provided by GfK and is based on actual sales category performance, has enabled users to see which products and regions are currently growing, the forecast report takes this one stage further to meet the industry's need for accurate forecasting.

The BMF forecast model incorporates several lead indicators to signal future events that will impact our markets.

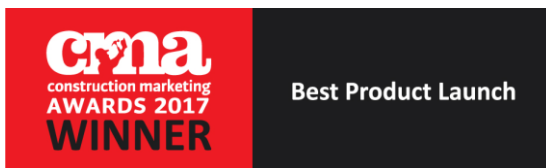

Using BMBI data coupled with advanced modelling techniques the BMF has developed a channel-specific forecasting model to show what is likely to happen in the next 12 months, making it possible for merchants and suppliers to forecast their customers' requirements more accurately.

The forecast report and its previous editions can be downloaded by BMF members free of charge – once logged in – here.
